Projects

WEBSITE – Online Restaurant Ordering System in java. An online restaurant ordering simulator based on the java language. the users can perform all order management operations of a restaurant

College Feedback Portal (Academic Project) – By using Python, Arduino IDE

Created an Arduino-based hand gesture control of your Computer that helps communicate and exchange information between the user and the machine. Instead of using a keyboard, mouse we can use our hand gestures to control certain functions.

Created an Arduino Solar Tracker. A small prototype using small panels can be used in small-scale applications like turning on a small bulb or charging a mobile phone.

It demonstrates the solar tracker by rotating the solar panels as per the sunlight.

To demonstrate I might be using the artificial light source
